

Table of contents

- Wolfgang Müller-Funk, The Borders of Europe. Instead of an Introduction
pp. 9-17
- Ágnes Heller, Can Europe Survive?
pp. 19-27
- Mauro Ponzi, Borders, Demarcations, and Identities. People and Populism in Contemporary Europe
pp. 29-44
- Johan Schimanski, (Un)folding European Borders
pp. 45-56
- Tommaso Morawski, Counter-Mapping Migrant Forms of Life
pp. 57-69
- Gerlinde Steininger, B/ordering Europe in Parliamentary Debates in Austria During the EU Presidency 2018
pp. 71-98
- Clemens Ruthner, Being 'Borderline'. Liminality as a Heuristic Concept
pp. 99-109
- Dario Gentili, Hic sunt leones. Border/Frontier. The Political Genea-logy of a Spatial Disposition
pp. 111-121
- Giulia Iannucci, The Formation of the New City: Berlin as the European Paradigm
pp. 123-131
- Daniela Padularosa, Adrift. Nomadism in Contemporary Cities
pp. 133-145
- Rüdiger Görner, Boundaries, Frontiers, and Border-Crossings. Reflections on the Political Aesthetics of Liminality
pp. 147-159
- Anna Czajka-Cunico, Borderland Thinking in Polish Cultural Studies and the Possibility of Its Interdisciplinary Development. Some Introductory Reflections and Examples
pp. 161-172
- Micaela Latini, Sliding Borders. Between Ingeborg Bachmann's Storytelling and Jean Améry's Testimony
pp. 227-229